DIGITAL AWARENESS AND MEDIA Women's Day Campaign

For Women's Day, our campaign focused on the role of women in family planning decisions. We conveyed the prevailing power dynamics and stereotypes in India that prevented women from participating in any concrete decision making. The facts and figures shared reflected the gender disparity when it comes to decisions about family and children. The campaign also shared posts that pushed for an equal role of men & women in family planning.

CELEBRATION OF WORLD WATER DAY 2021 Valuing Water

EVERY YEAR, March 22 is observed as the World Water Day. This year as we celebrate, and reiterate, the importance of water we need to remember the difference – this is the World Water Day in the age of climate change. This year's theme 'valuing water' specifically recognizes the crucial role of healthy ecosystems in maintaining water supplies around the world. Amid a water, nature and climate crisis, the reciprocal relationship between water and ecosystems is a concept we must more fully embrace.

Mobius Foundation celebrated World Water Day on 22nd March 2021 to support the achievement of Sustainable Development Goal 6: water and sanitation for all by 2030. Everybody participated and shared views on how we can better contribute to protect this vital resource.

READERS' COMMENTS

Received the March diary of Mobius Foundation. It has nice coloured sectional highlights. Very readable. But Session 3's message seems to imply that literacy and education are preconditions for reducing fertility. That is not correct. As I showed it in my recent article one can't wait for everything to fall into place. It's possible with different contraceptive methods to incentivise later births and spacing between children even among illiterates, and belonging to SC / OBC categories across religion. That needs emphasis.
